LOCAL SUSPECTS ARE RELEASED

Two Men Held in Connection With Burglaries in Spiceland Are Given Freedom.

OFFICERS SHOW NO INTEREST

Robbers Spent Night Jimmying Doors
But Obtained Only 89 Cents
For Trouble.

Patrick Sweeney who was arrested yesterday afternoon by Policeman Walters and held as a suspect in connection with the series of robberies at Spiceland Thursday evening was released today about noon. John Polson, believed to be Sweeney's accomplice in the burglaries, who was arrested by Policeman Walters last evening, was also released.

The two men partially answered the description sent out by the Spiceland authorities, but the officials did not take interest enough in the local arrests to come here and take a look at the two men and it was for that reason that they were allowed to go free. The Spiceland officers were communicated with yesterday afternoon and said that they would come here. The New Castle Courier gives a detailed account of the robberies in Spiceland:

They succeeded in gaining an entrance into four places, the T. H. I. & E. interurban station, the L. E. & W. depot, the office at Fuson's lumber yard and Collins' meat market, and their total booty was eighty-nine cents.

In addition the robbers left their marks on all of the business doors in the city, where evidences of attempting to gain entrances by the means of a jimmy were evident yesterday morning. The robberies and attempted robberies were not discovered until this morning.

At the interurban station the booty of the robbers was fifty cents. They effected an entrance by forcing the front door, prying off the lock to the office entrance. No tickets were taken from the office and no other disturbance was made in that quarter. At the L. E. & W. station the thieves also jimmied an entrance, there they secured nineteen pennies and did not disturb the ticket case. The robbery was discovered yesterday morning by the agent, W. T. Spencer. The lock on the door leading to the office was forced.

At Frank Fuson's lumber yard the door to the office was broken into. The desk was pried open and the money drawer jerked from its position. No money was obtained.

At Elam Collins' meat market the burglars secured twenty pennies. They gained an entrance by using a pry on the front door. Mr. Collins discovered the robbery when he appeared at his establishment Friday morning.

TODAY WAS "CLEANUP DAY"

Connersville Scrubbed the Dirty
Spots All Off Today.

Connersville has been cleaning up all week and today was the day designated as "Cleanup Day." The city no doubt looked like it had on its Sunday clothes by night as the plans were to make it "spick and span." The weather was ideal for such a day. It was planned to hold the annual event on last Saturday but the weather was so disagreeable that it was postponed until today. Monday the city's wagons will haul the trash away.

MAY NOT LOSE MANY MEN

Several Foreigners Begin Work on Streets After Strike.

The Adams Construction company will probably not lose over ten or fifteen foreigners as the result of the general strike yesterday, when the interpreter was asked to haul brick and refused, he later ordering a strike. Several of the men who quit yesterday went back to work this morning and others are expected to come back the first of next week.

MUCH REAL ESTATE SOLD DURING WEEK

Thirteen of Transfers in Realty Are on Account of the Lot Sale in the Stewart & Tompkins Addition.

ONE BIG FARM SOLD FOR $12,480

The real estate deals in Rush county consummated in the last week amount to $42,265, which is the largest amount of money which has changed hands here in such transactions for a number of weeks. One sale, that of lots 43, 44 and 45 in Smith and Clark's addition to Rushville, which were sold by the Scott-Madden Iron Works Company to James W. Arbuckle, the price is not given and that amount would probably increase the total by several dollars.

The largest individual sale was that of eighty acres in this township which was sold by William M. Alexander to his son, William A. Alexander for $12,480. There are a number of other farm sales, but none so large as that one. Thirteen of the twenty-seven transfers in realty which were made were lots in the Stewart & Tompkins addition to Belmont addition to Rushville, which was platted and sold when the new furniture factory was located.

FIVE MEMBERS GRADUATE

The Milroy Commencement Exercises
Were Held Last Night.

The Milroy high school commencement was held in the Auditorium in Milroy last night, at which time five members of the senior class graduated. The class address was delivered by J. B. Rummel, assistant superintendent of public instruction of the State. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Stevens orchestra of Glenwood. Mr. Rummel pleased the large audience with his address and proved to be an interesting speaker. Those who graduated were Marie Harrison, Georgia Rawlings, Mary Darnell, Vane Ryse and Herman Kenneth.

WILSON ARRESTED.

Charles Wilson was arrested this morning by Policeman McAllister, charged with being drunk. Wilson was with Lige Pea and both men were ordered home. Lige started to take Wilson, but he refused to go and as a result was arrested. He will probably be tried Monday morning.

FISHING LICENSES DELAYED.

George W. Miles, State fish and game commissioner is sending blanks for licenses for non-resident fishermen to county clerks, under the new law providing for licenses for such fishermen. The license blanks were to have been sent out May 1, but the commissioner was unable to obtain them from the State printer

ARE FINISHING ANNUAL WORK

Township Assessors Will Make Their Reports to County Assessor
Moses by May 15.

INCREASED PROPERTY VALUE

Will Cause Many Vexing Questions to Come Before Board of Review
This Year.

The township assessors are finishing up their annual work and are preparing to report to John F. Moses, county assessor, by the fifteenth of this month. The work has taken much more time this year due to the fact that the assessors have been required to assess all of the real estate in the county.

In making the assessments this year the assessors have made an average of fifteen per cent increase in valuations on all kinds of property and real estate. This action, which was required by law, means that the valuation of the property in the county will be increased by about one million dollars, one-half of which will be in Rushville.

The increased valuation will mean additional work for the board of review when it meets in the auditor's office in June. The board will no doubt be besieged continually by individuals as well as representatives of corporations, objecting to the increased value of their property. This will probably make the work of the board this year exceedingly hard as they will have many difficult questions to settle.

County Treasurer William McBride and his assistants are now busy in settling up the final work of the office following the rush during the spring tax paying time. The receipts last week are believed to be among the largest in the history of the county. The treasurer was not prepared to announce the receipts of the last week or the last day of tax paying time, but he estimates the receipts in the last month, including the first day of this month, to amount to a sum something over $127,000.

By the fifteenth of June the county treasurer's office will be a comparatively quiet place. By that time the report will have been made to the State officials and the worry incident to tax paying time will not come again until next fall.

Swat the mosquito.
Get out the screen and don't fail to put them up today—or tomorrow—if you have no other time. Do not delay this necessary spring action for the mosquito is in Rushville to spend the summer. Mosquitoes have been buzzing their plaintive tunes not alone in the damp places but right on Main street, where it is so dry that the dust blows.

One mosquito was killed yesterday by an ambitious housewife. Further inquiry develops the startling facts that even more of the summer pests have been buzzing around promiscuously. Not very particular are they

TO TEST BLOCK SYSTEM HERE

Railroad Commission and Traction
Managers From All Over State
Will Gather Here Friday.

ARE INVITED BY PRES. HENRY

Semaphore and Selector Have Been Installed Here For Exhibition—
I. & C. May Install It.

On next Friday afternoon traction managers from all parts of the State and members of the State Railroad Commission will gather here to see the demonstration of a dispatcher's block system at the I. & C. car barns. President Charles Henry of the I. & C. has invited the members of the commission and all of the general managers of the traction lines over the State to witness the exhibition. The party will leave Indianapolis at one o'clock in the afternoon on an I. & C. special car.

The system which will be tried here is a new telephone and signal system. The selector is placed in the dispatcher's office and by turning one certain key any point on the road where a phone is located, may be reached. By the installation of a selector the trouble derived from a certain number of rings for each station on the road would be done away with. There is a key on the selector for every station on the road and when it is turned, only the phone at one station is rung. Selectors have been placed in Connersville, Greensburg, Shelbyville and this city for the test next Friday.

The signal system is such that a car can be stopped at any switch on the division of the road. The tall affair with arms which is known as a semaphore, has been placed at the car barns here. In case the system is installed one will be placed at each siding on the road. The dispatcher, from his office, can place one of the arms of the semaphore in such a position that the crew of the approaching car will know that there is danger ahead. The members of the crew are then supposed to communicate with the dispatcher and learn the trouble.

The system is manufactured by the United States Electric company, which is represented by Mr. Launbrach. If the system proves satisfactory in the test and is approved by the railroad commission, it will be installed on both divisions of the I. & C. The power to order the installation of a signal system that is with in the means of the company, lies with the railroad commission.

DIVORCE DAY IN COURT

One is Granted and Another Case is Heard.

Today was divorce day in the circuit court, when two suits were heard and another was postponed. The case of Corinna Easley vs. George Easley occupied the time of the court most of the day. A verdict will not be returned until Monday. Sarah E. Conaway was granted a divorce from her husband, John F. Conaway. The case of James E. Gardner vs. Lucy D. Gardner, was postponed until Saturday, May 20.

GEORGE HENRY TO QUIT I. & C. COMPANY

Charles Warfel Will Act as Traffic Manager and Continue as Purchasing Agent.

WILL TAKE EFFECT JUNE FIRST

George Henry has tendered his resignation as traffic manager of the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction company, to take effect June 1. Mr. Henry will be succeeded by Charles Warfel, who will also act as purchasing agent, his present position. Mr. Warfel will be assisted by George T. Wheldon, who will look after the Indianapolis end of the business. Mr. Wheldon at present is employed in the ticket office at the Indianapolis Terminal station. The company formerly had a separate department known as the purchasing department. It is now planned to combine the two and Mr. Warfel will be in charge. Mr. Henry has been with the company since it was first organized. As to the future he has not announced his plans. Another change that will take effect June 1 will be the placing of all ticket agents in charge of Oscar Lively. At present Mr. Lively is trainmaster, but will be known as the superintendent hereafter.

FEW SURVIVORS OF 22D BATTERY HERE

Five Members in This County Will Probably Attend State Encampment at Richmond.

MEET IN COURT HOUSE THERE

George W. Alexander of this city has received word that the surviving members of the Twenty-second Indiana Battery, who will attend the encampment of the Grand Army Republic and the Sons of Veterans which will be held in Richmond, May 17, 18, and 19, will meet on the lower floor of the court house where they may recall old times and enjoy a few hours together. There are five members of the Battery in this county now, while nineteen of the Battery have been buried here since the war. The survivors are James Sells of Mankilla; Harlan Lee of Arlington; Joe Miller and Daniel Catt of Carthage, and G. W. Alexander of this city. It is likely that most of them will attend the encampment.

—J. H. Brecheisen will spend Sunday in Cincinnati.

HOME SICK BOY GOES TO UNCLE

Philip Adams, 16 Years Old, Longs
For Old Greece, His Native
Country and His Parents.

BEEN HERE FOUR MONTHS

Illness of Ten Days Proves to be Homesickness—Little Fellow
a Favorite.

Rushville has been harboring a home sick boy for the past ten days. Nothing strange about that as any boy is subject to that awful experience, only this is an exceptional case. They say that homesickness can be cured by allowing the patient to go home but in this instance it is almost impossible as the boy is thousands of miles from home and his father and mother. It would take him several weeks to go and in the meantime he would probably be cured.

The boy is Philip Adams, the sixteen-year-old Greek boy who has been employed for the past several months in the Greek Candy store. Philip came to this country about four months ago, leaving his parents in Greece and never expected to return to them. For about ten days the little fellow, who has proved to be a favorite with local people because of his eagerness to learn English and his pleasant ways, has complained of being ill. Everything that could be done for him was done but to no avail. At last his case was pronounced homesickness.

Usually he is of a cheerful disposition and a willing worker but of late he has been sulky and has several times refused to work. To be homesick even within easy distance of ones home is certainly bad enough but in his case it must have been worse. He knew it would be impossible for him to go home so he decided on the next best thing. If he could only see his uncle, Pete Adams in Richmond he would soon be alright again.

This morning he made known his desire and Pete was called on the long distance phone. It was arranged that he should come the first of next week and take Philip to Richmond. This plan did not please Philip so he slipped out of the store and started for the depot. He inquired at the traction station the way to the "Richmond railroad" and he was so excited that it was at first thought the boy was running away. The depot was located for him and he caught the train for Richmond.

It is thought he will be ready to return in a few days after seeing his uncle. The boy has received the best of treatment while here and his desire to see Pete or some of his kin-folks was more that he could stand.

NEED A REVIVAL?

The Rev. A. W. Jamieson, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, will discuss the topic "Do we Need a Revival" tomorrow evening. This is timely since plans are being laid for a monster protracted meeting here next month.

JUST TRY TO ONCE.

An exchange gives an excellent remedy for preventing chickens from scratching up the neatly laid onion bed, which is worthy of repetition: "Procure some fine Portland cement, mix with water and spread a six-inch layer over the garden. When this settles firmly it is impossible for even the most determined hen to scratch through it."

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight and Sunday. Not much change in temperature.

Stomach Blood and Liver Troubles

Much sickness starts with weak stomach, and consequent poor, impoverished blood. Nervous and pale-people lack good, rich, red blood. Their stomachs need invigorating for, after all, a man can be no stronger than his stomach.

A remedy that makes the stomach strong and the liver active, makes rich red blood and overcomes and drives out disease-producing bacteria and cures a whole multitude of diseases.

Get rid of your Stomach Weakness and Liver Laziness by taking a course of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—the Great Stomach Restorative, Liver Invigorator and Blood Cleanser.

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, same being attested as correct under oath.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

COBB LEAVES BASEBALL

FOR ONE DAY AND DRIVES RACE AUTO ON SPEEDWAY.

Great Baseball Player Would Become Speed Demon If Opportunity Was Afforded in Long Race.

Ty Cobb, the champion batsman of the American League and the famous star of the Detroit Baseball Club, is a speed demon. The famous Tyrus demonstrated this prowess at the wheel of a racing automobile at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, recently, when he turned a mile in a National "40" in 52 seconds, with "Brick" Owens, the American Association umpire, riding in the mechanician's seat. The weather was inclement and the track was rather damp, but the nervy outfielder sent the big car over the minutes flat or at the rate of seventy-rate.

While Cobb was not after Barney Oldfield's fast mile of 35.63, made on the big brick oval, he did turn some fast miles. The course was wet and made it all the more hazardous to attempt fast time, but this did not deter the "Georgia Peach" and after two trips around the track with "Happy Johnny" Aitken, the star of the National racing team, Ty took the wheel and started after the speediest mile he could reel off.

The Speedway management made an exception for the famous diamond star and the National Company took a new roadster off the floor, and the blue finish of the car excited the admiration of the crack outfielder. Clad in the habiliments of a professional "speed demon," the fans would hardly have recognized Jennings' star as he crouched behind the big wheel. Ty made one circuit of the track to get accustomed to handling the car and then waved the timers to catch him on his next trip. Considering that the car, in automobile parlance, "was green" Ty's feat of going the two and one-half miles in 2:20 shows that he was hitting it up some, although, as he expressed it, "it was fun—not half so hard as judging a long fly."

LOBBYISTS ARE TO BE INCLUDED

Ohio Graft Probe Not to Stop At Legislators.

MANY ARE ON THE ANXIOUS SEAT

If the Prosecutor's Plans Work Out, Rich Ohioans and Officers of Corporations Who Maintained Lobbyists at Columbus May Expect to Be Indicted Together With Solons Whose Palms Were Ever Outstretched.

Columbus, O., May 6.—If expectations at the Franklin county courthouse are realized rich Ohioans and officers of corporations who have sent experienced lobbyists here to deal with legislators who had their hands out most of the time, may expect to be indicted. Intimation to this effect has been made by Prosecutor Turner to offset reports that only solons would be embraced in the report of the grand jury. Turner plans to get everyone possible connected with bribery, at both the giving and receiving end. The five legislators and the sergeant-at-arms, indicted Wednesday, when arraigned all entered pleas of not guilty. It is understood that these legislators and others expecting indictments have raised a large fund for legal expense.

Several law firms have been retained. It is likely that these attorneys will co-operate. There is no doubt that some of the witnesses summoned before the grand jury, who thought the prosecution was in possession only of facts concerning a few cases, in which detectives laid traps to catch legislators, did some tail fibbing before the grand jury, and Prosecutor Turner says there are likely to be indictments for perjury on that account. Before the grand jury gets through, witnesses from all sections of the state, identified both directly and indirectly with lobbying, will be summoned.

TOO MANY WIVES

This Man Is Charged With Having Five in as Many Towns.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 6.—Five wives are expected to appear against Hobart Partridge, now in prison at Philadelphia, awaiting extradition to this county, when he is put on trial to answer a desertion charge. A detective who has been investigating Partridge's career at the instance of Mrs. Josephine VanSant Partridge, daughter of a wealthy shipbuilder of Port Republic, has just discovered another "Mrs. Hobart Partridge," who was Miss Helen Bruner of Phoenixville, Pa., whom he says identifies a picture of Partridge as being that of her husband. According to this wife, Partridge disappeared shortly after their marriage early in April.

A woman who lives in Bridgeport, Conn., one in Schenectady, and another in Harrisburg, are said to claim Partridge as a husband. All the alleged weddings are said to have taken place since October, 1910, when he married Miss VanSant.

He Was Too Wise For Them.

New York, May 6.—The wire-tapping game was tried on Charles McDonald, a Philadelphia contractor, who refused to be let in on an easy thing. He did some volunteer detective work and succeeded, with the help of eight detectives, in getting thirteen fake poolroom men to police station, where they were locked up. Many of their faces were already in the rogues' gallery.

GOVERNOR W. E. CLARK.

Alaska's Popular Executive Was Formerly a Newspaper Man.

ALASKA'S GOVERNOR RECEIVES ORDERS

Instructed to Prevent Further Coal Rioting.

Washington, May 6.—Attorney General Wickersham and Secretary of the Interior Fisher conferred in regard to the rioting which occurred at Cordova, Alaska, when coal from docks or vessels of the Alaska Steamship company was thrown overboard as a protest against the government ignoring demands by people of Alaska that the coal lands of the territory be opened up. As a result of the conference Attorney General Wickersham sent telegrams to United States marshals in Alaska, instructing them to report the present condition of affairs and to take all necessary steps to protect shipping at Cordova. In addition to this, Secretary Fisher sent a telegram to Governor W. E. Clark of Alaska, who is at present at Chaplin, Conn., instructing him to take action to suppress lawlessness.

"You are fully advised of my personal desire and determination to promote Alaskan coal development as promptly as effective protection of public interest will permit. Nevertheless lawlessness must be absolutely suppressed and punished, and you will take prompt and vigorous action to this end," says the secretary's telegram to the governor.

Itching Scalp and Dandruff Will Vanish and Luxuriant Hair Will Follow.

If Parisian Sage does not cure dandruff, stop falling hair or itching of the scalp in two weeks F. B. Johnson & Co. will give your money back. Can any offer be fairer than this? Is there any intelligent man or woman in this city troubled with dandruff who can afford not to accept this offer?

Parisian Sage is not a nostrum; it is the scientific preparation of one of the world's greatest dermatologists. It will grow hair. It will cure dandruff. It will stop falling hair. It will make the scalp clean and white and free it from any disease.

It is the most marvelous and efficient hair dressing known. It will turn harsh, lustreless and uncontrollable hair into soft, lustrous and fascinating hair in a few days. It is the favorite hair dressing of thousands of American women, who realize that no woman can be handsome without beautiful hair.

SAGE FOR DARKENING THE HAIR.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time, tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the brew. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready made product. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy. This preparation is sold by all first-class druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

GRAVE CONCERN AT WASHINGTON

Mexican Situation Is Growing More Serious.

PRESIDENT DIAZ POWERLESS

The Apparent Breaking Down of the Mexican Government as Evidenced by Its Inability to Suppress the Revolt Revives the Fear at Washington That This Government May Yet Have to Intervene.

Washington, May 6.—Of the fact that the Mexican situation is causing United States officials grave concern, there is no longer any concealment. Developments continue to indicate that the Diaz government is powerless to check the revolt, and fear is being expressed now of its ability to protect American and other foreign interests. More than three-quarters of the country is in revolt and the general conditions are more serious than at any time since Francisco I. Madero, the insurrecto leader, raised his standard several months ago against the government in the northern section of the country.

The situation near Acapulco is described in official dispatches to the state department as "most disquieting and intolerable." Two Americans have been murdered by rebel bandits near that place.

The seriousness with which this government regards the situation is indicated by the fact that the state department has made public not only official messages describing the situation at Acapulco as intolerable, but several other messages from United States consuls and other diplomatic officers outlining the conditions in other parts of the country. Nearly all these messages indicated an alarming spread of the revolution.

While the situation in the republic to the south is causing much anxiety to President Taft and other officials of the government, they are still hopeful, and intend to maintain their present policy of non-interference unless driven to an extremity. In the latter event Mr. Taft will not act until he lays the matter before congress in a special message. If conditions in Mexico continue to grow worse it will only be a question of time when other governments will put the matter of protecting their interests up to this country.

The Mexican situation was discussed at Friday's cabinet meeting, but President Taft and his advisers adjourned firmly determined to do everything possible to avoid intervention on the part of the United States.

GOING RIGHT AHEAD

Peace Conference Continued Under Extension of Armistice.

El Paso, Tex., May 6.—Owing to poor telegraphic communication with Mexico City, the armistice was extended today. Only one wire is working to the capital, and that is intermittent and piled up with business.

It is said that Venustiano Carranza, provisional governor of Coahuila, has received a cablegram from General Bernardo Reyes quieting some of the fears of the insurrectos about the trouble he might create on his return. He cabled Carranza that he was friendly to the insurrectos and asking Carranza to aid him in any work he might undertake on his return.

Rebels Closing in on Torreón.

Monterey, Mexico, May 6.—Advices received from towns in the Nazas river valley, in the vicinity of Torreón, say that that whole region, with the exception of that city, is controlled by rebel bands and that the federal forces are utterly incapable of coping with the situation. Several American families reside on the outskirts of Lerdo, and they had a harrowing experience during the attack on that town by rebels. It is said the evacuation of Torreón by the federals is now being arranged.

Insurrectos Revise History.

El Paso, Tex., May 6.—The usual celebration of Cinco De Mayo, the anniversary of the battle of Puebla, of which President Diaz was the hero, was not held in Juarez. In the insurrecto camp there was much celebrating and many speeches, but Juarez did not celebrate. The insurrectos extolled Zaragoza as the hero of Puebla and Diaz was left out.

REDMOND AND BALFOUR

Shake Hands For First Time in Twenty Years.

London, May 6.—The presentation by the members of parliament to Speaker Lowther and his wife of gifts in honor of their silver wedding anniversary led to an interesting scene in the lobby.

After the ceremony Mr. Balfour cordially shook hands with John E. Redmond. The last occasion on which Mr. Balfour thus greeted Mr. Redmond was twenty years ago, when Mr. Redmond was liberated from the famous Kilmarnock jail.

TAKEN AT HIS WORD AND NOW IS PEEVED

Tacoma Preacher Concludes Mercy Is Missing.

Tacoma, Wash., May 6.—Rev. A. A. Metcalf, pastor of the Midland church here, declaring he made a fake confession of wrongdoing to Rev. Thomas T. Elliott, district superintendent, and Dr. J. C. Zeller, president of the Puget Sound university, for the sole purpose of ascertaining whether there was any Christianity in the Methodist church, so impressed the members of his congregation with his sincerity that they are standing by him almost unanimously. Metcalf and a young woman, who has since been befriended by Metcalf's wife, had doubts, they say, as to whether there was much true Christianity in the church. According to their statements, they faked a confession, giving it in confidence to Elliott, Zeller and three others. Someone broke the confidence. Elliott asked for Metcalf's resignation. The young woman is on the verge of a nervous collapse. Mrs. Metcalf has taken her into her home. Metcalf presented his resignation to the congregation after bitterly denouncing his denomination and Dr. Zeller. He said: "When I made that confession, I lied deliberately. I know it is not right to lie, and I plead guilty to that charge. We framed up the story to see if we would be treated with the mercy a Christian should bestow on a repentant sinner. We found that there is no Christian mercy either in the Methodist church or Puget Sound university."

JACK JOHNSON GRINS

The Man Who Had Been Planning for Championship Knocked Out.

Kansas City, May 6.—Jim Flynn of Pueblo knocked out Al Kaufman of San Francisco in the tenth round here last night. The bout had thirty seconds to go when Flynn sent over a right and left to the jaw which sent Kaufman reeling to the ropes, falling on his back and rolling over with outstretched arms. He got up just after the fatal ten seconds had been counted and staggered to the ropes. His seconds carried him to his corner.

Kaufman was sent to the floor seven times during the battle.

Watch Your Kidneys.

Their action controls your health. Read what Foley Kidney Pills have done for your neighbor. W. H. Personett, 604 No. Pratt St., Greenfield, Ind. says: "For many years I was afflicted with backache and general kidney trouble and at times I could not straighten up or sit down without suffering great agony. My kidney action was irregular and when I got a little cold, it settled there, causing much distress. Foley Kidney Pills were recommended to me. I took them according to directions. Three bottles cured me of my troubles and I shall always recommend Foley Kidney Pills to my friends for kidney and bladder disorders." For sale by F. B. Johnson & Co.

The Home Merchant.

A full line of well kept retail stores is a great public convenience. It enables our home people to make purchases and take the goods home the same day. It enables them to take their own time for inspection of goods, when they are not cut short by the hurry of a trip to some distant city.

Gail Hamilton, a well known writer of some years ago wrote a book called "Twelve Miles From a Lemon." It was a humorous description of the inconveniences one encounters in living in a place where the convenience of retail business is not good.

People think of those things when picking out a residence town, and they hate to locate in a place lacking good stores, just as they dislike to go to a place lacking good water and lights and streets and sewers.

In order to get public conveniences of any kind, we have to tax ourselves. Even if it could be proved that one must occasionally pay a little more to buy goods at home, this tax necessary to get a good system of local shops is but slight compared with what we pay for other conveniences. But it does not cost more to buy at home.

J. P. Morgan paid $25,500 for a Latin letter Martin Luther wrote, and we have doubts if Mr. Morgan can read it at that.

Andrew Carnegie told the peace conference that Britain is his motherland and America his wife. He seems to have married his own sister.

The Bangor fire skipped both the city hall and the jail. Even the inanimate flames felt that they were to be treated as belonging to the same class.

Ohio legislators charged with bribery now. If our representatives don't begin to represent something besides their own pockets, the voters will make the legislatures look like a grease spot after wash day.

is not near so great. This plan costs about one hundred and fifty dollars a mile.

Instead of building so many new roads they are making them over in the above manner in Boone county. That process is being applied to every pike that leads into Lebanon and the farmers and travelers are more than pleased with the results that are being obtained.

There are several roads in Rush county that would not be hurt by using such methods to repair. Notably the New Salem pike is getting very rough. The surface is still hard but it has many chuck holes. Not many years will pass until the hard surface will be worn through in places and the mud will ooze up and the road will be a veritable mud hole. The oil binder method applied now would save it for many years and would make it a good road, much better than it is now, for several decades. There are other pikes leading into Rushville which the same process would not injure in the least.

In distinguishing between the country life movement and the back-to-the-farm tendency, an eminent investigator gives the former preference as a possible solution for our economic problems and characterizes the later developments as for the most part, socially and economically unsound, says the Christian Science Monitor. He depreciates the anxiety over the decline of rural populations and sees in the decline only one expression of the sorting of humanity into groups, a gradual evolution which goes to show that Americans will never again be a rural people. But it is in dwelling upon the need of finding some real economic relation between city and country whereby the city will give back something for what it takes that he brings to light the fundamental problem faced by civilization. Those who have watched the gradual interchange of populations, by which the city has gained numerically at the expense of the country, must have begun to realize that something more than surface causes was responsible. Aside from the more lucrative prospects offered by the city, it seems to be the fact that too many farms in America are being conducted by men, who, lacking thorough knowledge of modern intensive methods are unable to supply the increasing demand for raw materials. How to sort out and replace these people who ought not to live on the land, and how to make rural life both attractive and profitable, then, are the two great considerations with those students of conditions who seek to establish the basis for sympathetic economic relationship between the city and country.

With the increase in city populations and the more exacting standard of living in the country, together with the information that is being dispensed by agricultural schools and through the medium of agricultural literature, progressive development may eventually bring about the desired result of making farming unprofitable to men who refuse to learn modern methods. From publishing houses comes word that books bearing upon different phases of farm life are in great demand among all the classes of society, from the farmer himself to the city man and woman. Never before was there such general interest manifested in agriculture. The agricultural library has its place in every well-organized country home. And while the educated urbanite is brushing up his ideas on farming the wise country man is learning more about his own handicraft and also branching out into the higher education that long was associated principally with the city. Herein we may discern interchange of knowledge simultaneously with interchange of population.

As a matter of fact, education promises in time to place the city man and the country man on an intellectual parity, speaking broadly. It is true that the city and the country are getting together; the telephone, better roads, improved steam and electric transportation facilities and the motor vehicle are eliminating time and distance. The bearing that proper distribution of immigration may have on the ultimate situation is important, but seemingly in no way likely to alter the main facts already noted. If the city man studies agriculture before going to the country, while the farmer learns intensive culture and stays on his land, and social and educational standards in rural communities continue to rise results will speak for themselves.

EDITORIALETTES.

We continue to observe that all sorts of people are "having" themselves hurt in all the surrounding cities.

We notice that a lot of papers that have not yet emerged from the "country" class are carrying a column known as the "Country Editor."

An exchange says that a young man with a slender salary should marry a young woman with a slender waist. We take it for granted that they mean a slender taste.

With a new building in place of that one which the Odd Fellows claim as theirs, Main and Second would be some corner.

We have noted that the modern idea of housekeeping is to have little or nothing to clean and a vacuum cleaner to do it with.

Irrespective of any comments by the weather predictor, we advise that you put your snow shovel in moth balls for the summer.

That leads us to remark that this is a good time to change 'em.

We would not have you consider that subject lightly for it is a rather heavy one.

So few theories pay dividends, darn it!

Today we swatted a fly that had two white forefeet and a brown star in its face. As it looked at us pitiously with its 6689 eyes we regretted the rash act. It may have been a household pet.

BUG IS HERE, WANE AND PALE

Dr. L. O. Howard, chief of the United States department of entomology, invents a trap like this—a tin cup or a tin can cover nailed to the end of a long stick in such a way that kerosene can be placed in the cup which may then, by means of a stick, be pressed up to the ceiling so as to inclose one mosquito after another. The captured mosquito will attempt to fly and can be caught in the kerosene.

Another good way is first to capture the mosquito. Then feed him a lump of sugar steeped in alcohol until he is semi-intoxicated. In this condition lure him up a dark alley and beat his brains out with a club. Swat the mosquito.

This is good advice but hard to follow. The ordinary mosquito is more averse to being swatted than the house fly, the victim of the present "swat" campaign. Besides he works while you sleep—or try to sleep. Night and day he goes about making himself a general nuisance besides carrying germs of malaria, yellow fever, filariasis and dengue fever.

Recognizing the disadvantages under which he labors in his battle with the pestiferous little insect, the health department of the State will wage official war on the mosquito this summer.

A new recipe calls for one ounce each of oil of citronella and spirits of camphor and one-half ounce of oil of cedar. A few drops on a bath towel hung over the head of the bed will keep the common house mosquitoes from plying their trade in that vicinity. For people who would rather be eaten by mosquitoes than smell oil of citronella a mixture composed of one ounce each of eucalyptus oil, alcohol and oil of lavender is suggested.

Mosquitoes laugh at mosquito bars and wire screens, but a light coating of kerosene or oil of citronella will keep them from trying to bore their way through. Should the netting or screen have twenty meshes to the inch it will turn back all but the most determined of the mosquito tribe, but most any of them will penetrate a screen having only fifteen meshes to the inch.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

TWO CHICKS IN ONE EGG.

(Columbus Republican.)

William Bishop, of First and Franklin streets has twin chickens at his home, but they are dead and he believes that they were killed by a recent clap of thunder. The chickens were just ready to hatch, when the clap of thunder came, but the shell of the egg was not broken. The death of the chickens, however, it may have been brought about, is not regarded as remarkable, but the fact that the egg, which by the way, was not a double yolked one, contained two chickens fully developed is regarded as remarkable.

On learning that the chickens, or as he then believed, the chicken was dead, he broke the shell of the egg and was surprised that it contained twin chickens, one white and one black.

MANILLA MAN, INVENTOR.

(Shelbyville Democrat.)

Rev. W. R. Jinnett of Manilla and two Indianapolis men have just been granted a patent on a machine for removing the soot out of stovepipes. The new invention is said to be a success and will be placed on sale in a few months. It will likely be manufactured in the city of Kokomo. The owners have received several good offers for their patent rights, but they have turned all of them down thus far.

Rev. Jinnett is well known to the readers of the Democrat. His letters of travel while he and Mrs. Jinnett were touring Europe last summer were highly interesting and their contents were quickly devoured. The Rev. Jinnett is a versatile man as is shown in his latest achievement. In addition to his duties as a minister he devotes much of his time to the lecture field. He has appeared as a lecturer in all of the larger cities of the country. His many friends sincerely hope that his invention will meet with glowing success.

FREAK LAMB.

(St. Paul Telegram.)

One of the greatest freaks ever found in this locality was discovered last Friday on the farm of John T. Thornburg, four miles southwest of town. Mr. Thornburg and son are breeders of Shropshire sheep and on that morning while out among his sheep he discovered a lamb, which for a monstrosity, has anything, yet to be heard of, beaten. The lamb possessed a perfect head, seven legs, eight feet, two tails and other peculiarities. It had four perfect hind legs and three perfect fore legs. One fore leg had two feet attached. The two bodies were joined together just back of the shoulders.

Had the lamb not died, Mr. Thornburg would have probably realized some money out of the freak. It was buried Friday afternoon, having been viewed by numbers of people.

CONTRACT TO OIL CARTHAGE STREETS

Wilk & Redman Must Order a Car Load of Mixture to be Used in That Town.

EXPERIMENT TO BE TRIED HERE

The firm of Wilk & Redman have a contract to oil Carthage streets to prevent the dust there this summer. A representative of the firm was in Carthage yesterday when the contract was obtained. The local firm will oil Main, First and Second streets which will necessitate the purchase of one car load of oil. They will use about twenty per cent asphalt in the mixture which they will use in Carthage and which will tend to harden the surface of the street. The firm has a contract with the city council, it will be remembered, to repair two squares of the streets in this city by their new oiling method. They claim to fix the surface so that it is almost as hard as asphalt and is also as lasting. It is also claimed that less dust will blow when the surface is hard. The result of the experiment here is looked forward to with interest as it may present a plan which may be used to put all of the city's streets in excellent condition at a small cost.

BANKERS TO MEET IN CONNERSVILLE

Local Man Attends Meeting of Executive Committee When Date For Session is Decided On.

ARE TREATED TO AUTO RIDE

The Executive Committee of the Sixth Group of the Indiana Bankers' Association held a meeting here Friday in the McFarlan Hotel, and were entertained by representatives of the local banks, says the Connersville News. The visitors were Mr. Shirk of Brookville; Ralph Payne of Russellville; Mr. Young of Shelbyville; Mr. Perry of Greensburg, and Mr. Perry of Columbus. The representatives of the local banks who entertained these men with a very good dinner at the McFarlan at twelve o'clock and afterwards escorted them about the city in automobiles, were G. M. Sinks, F. I. Barrows, B. F. Thieband and L. K. Tingley. In the end the committee decided upon Connersville as the place of the annual meeting of the Sixth group, and the time as May 26.

TEN REGARD AUTO SPEED LIMIT LAW

Drives Whirl Machines Over Brick Streets With no Thought of Danger to Pedestrians.

LIVES ARE DAILY ENDANGERED

Somebody recently stated that the speed limit in the business district of Rushville is eight miles an hour but he surely was mistaken, judging by the speed of certain automobile and motorcycle drivers. Eight miles an hour is not a very rapid rate of speed but a lot of people would like to see the picture of the man who complies strictly with the ordinance. Accidents are narrowly averted every day, but that does not cause reckless drivers to slow up one bit. The ordinance was passed for the protection of life, and property and unless it is complied with it might as well be thrown into the discard. It is no uncommon thing to see automobiles go spinning through the city all the way from twenty to forty miles an hour, but nine times out of ten such excessive speed is maintained when policemen are not in sight.

Several hundred club women from the various towns in Henry county will be the guests of the club members of Knightstown on next Saturday, when the annual meeting of the Henry County Federation of Women's Clubs will be held. The meeting will be held in the Odd Fellows hall there both morning and afternoon.

This will be the fourth annual meeting of the Federation. A long program has been prepared which takes up the whole day's time. The most important address of the day will be delivered in the afternoon by Mrs. Grace Julian Clark, president of the Indiana Federated clubs.

At noon the women of the Rebekah lodge of Knightstown will serve dinner for the visiting guests.

AMUSEMENTS

The first film at the Vaudet will be a Nestor drama, "The Light Beyond." It is said to tell a powerful story and one full of interest. The second picture is a Thanhouser, "Checkmate." This one is a very thrilling drama full of human interest. The last film is one of the Imp's feature pictures. The subject is "The New Minister." The Vaudet will have a matinee Monday beginning at 3:30 o'clock for the school children and all others who can not go at night.

The Palace will show the usual two reels of pictures tonight. The first is an American Pathe, "Lieut. Scott's Narrow Escape." The picture is the story of an army officer's adventure and is very thrilling. The other film is a Biograph, "Madame Rex." It tells of a woman, who after the death of her husband, is forced to assume the management of the Gambling Casino, of which he was the proprietor. Her child she places in a convent and keeps her in ignorance of her occupation. The picture is most unique in story and type. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Star Grand will offer a big double program on Monday evening, which will be under the auspices of the first degree team of Franklin lodge of Odd Fellows of this city. "The Old Man and Jim" is a true military spectacle, such as is seldom reproduced in moving pictures. It has been enacted for the instruction of young America to instill patriotism, and is taken from James Whitcomb Riley's poem of the same name. "A Country Girl," the other film, which will be shown, is a Reliance and is said to be up to the standard of that shown here previously. Two added attractions will be had for the special program. Clarence Eward, the Greensburg soloist, will sing two solos, and Harry Lucas' orchestra of ten pieces will render a program. A complete change of program will be shown this evening, including "Checkmate," a Thanhouser drama, and "Owanee's Love," a Bison Indian drama.

—Mrs. George Tucker of Plainfield will spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. George Tucker here.

—Miss Elizabeth Cole of Morris-town will be the guest of Miss Blanch Wrennick this evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis and family and their guest, Mrs. Orneal Ward, will spend Sunday in Middletown.

CHAPTER XVIII.

THE nomination of Kelvin and Rollins came as an astounding surprise to the public, for their names in connection with the presidency had been carefully suppressed throughout, though Senator Sawyer's publicity bureau had kept the papers full of both men in other ways. They were the new economic conscience. They were the new commercial philanthropy. They were the new justice. They were the new foe of the oppressor and friend of the poor. Kelvin, individually, had forced Henry Breed to reduce the price of bread permanently from 5 to 4 cents a loaf. That was the story that touched every man's fearful concern for the poor man's pocketbook.

A dozen favorite sons were first put in nomination at the convention, and then Senator Killan, recounting the story of the breaking up of the Stock Exchange and of the capture of the railroads, the smashing of the trusts and the reduction of the price of bread, put up Kelvin's name for consideration. Pandemonium broke loose as per schedule, one of those carefully arranged spontaneous outbursts so dear to American politics, and on its crest the nomination of Kelvin as candidate for the high office of president of the United States, the youngest man ever to achieve that honor, became but a mere counting of long since arranged for ballots, after which the convention much more calmly and rationally proceeded to nominate Rollins.

One-half of the public received those two names with gasps of gratitude; the other half received them with snarls of scorn, and the campaign was on. Kelvin, refusing to make a mountebank of himself, let his managers fight it out, for he was busy. Out upon his vast stretches of Long Island waste there now sprang up a long succession of residence blocks, each surrounded with its cement sidewalk, each containing neat little cement houses molded after the Edison idea, and each house set in a generous plot of ground. Water, light, sewerage, parks, schools, all were provided as if by magic, and the whole was made easily accessible by the new and wonderful transportation system that Rollins had inaugurated at the same time.

As soon as the work had begun to assume form its magnitude could not escape the newspapers. Their first two questions were "What is this?" and "Who is doing it?" To both of these queries Kelvin's publicity bureau had a ready answer—light and air and cleanliness and life for the workingman at a cheaper price than he paid for darkness and poisoned atmosphere and dirt and death.

Kelvin, appealed to, curtly pointed out that the scheme had been projected long before his name had been mentioned for the nomination and that it was merely one of Henry Breed's plans for the use of his enormous wealth in ameliorating the condition of mankind. Nor did he deny that the undertaking was expected to pay a legitimate rate of interest upon the outlay. He was entirely practical, he stated, and the inference was that he would make an entirely practical president; also a working president, for he was busy right up to the time of election.

As if arranged by Providence, a chance to display his vigorous practicality came just a few days before election. One Pellman, remembered as a once forceful man of Wall street, then as a "has-been," had suddenly blossomed into the limelight as the real estate sensation of New York.

Workingmen Notice

Laborers, Machinists, Mechanics, Iron and Glass Workers and all others who use their hands, arms and muscles, should know that Plex 10c is a godsend for stiff, painful hands of workingmen. Plex 10c keeps the hands pliable, and is the quickest acting remedy you ever saw. Removes soreness in the hands and arms in one night. One application smooths rough skin. Plex 10c antiseptically heals, very penetrating, but very pleasant to use.

One application cures itching piles, a few applications conquer eczema or eradicate dandruff. Repairs sore, stiff muscles like magic; cures croup and sore throat. Fine for catarrh, splendor for headache, unequalled for cuts, burns, etc.

Plex 10c is the biggest household bargain you ever heard of. Your druggist has it or can easily get it for you.

'Cascarets' Best for Biliousness

The Millions of Cascaret Users Never Know the Misery of Headache, Coated Tongue or Sick Stomach.

You know when you need Cascarets. You feel a certain dullness and depression—perhaps the approach of a headache. You say "I am bilious and I must take something tonight." But why do you waste the day? It is easy to keep at your best at all times if you'll do it. The way is to carry a box of Cascarets with you. Take one just as soon as you need it. Then the clouds rise at once.

The need for Cascarets is a natural need. Don't think that you are drugging yourself. We must get a laxative some way. If we don't get it through exercise and through proper foods, we must get it otherwise. Cascarets are the next best way.

Ask your doctor about it. He will tell you that the day of the violent purgatives, such as calomel, pills, salts, castor oil and cathartics, is past. This is the day of the gentle in medicine, the natural, the pleasant. Cascarets act just as certain foods act—just as exercise acts—on the bowels—on the liver. Get a 10 cent box and take one now.

Working quietly, he had secured options upon tenement house districts, block after block in extent. Now he announced the formation of a monster terminal company which should take care of all the freight and passenger transportation entering New York and the erection of huge structures covering blocks in extent. Immediately following this notices of eviction were served upon every miserable dweller in the congested tenement districts that he had purchased. Thousands upon thousands of families were rendered homeless, and every newspaper blazed with the wholesale oppression.

Who then came to the rescue? Why, Kelvin, Kelvin the disburser of Breed's billions, Kelvin the annihilator of the Stock Exchange, Kelvin the breaker of trusts, Kelvin the reducer of the price of bread, Kelvin the poor man's friend, Kelvin the candidate for president of the United States! He would furnish them free transportation for themselves and their goods and chattels. He would at once install each homeless family in a separate little home of its own free of moving cost, and to avoid any suffering that might be attendant upon the confusion would stock each house with a week's provisions. Would a summer and fall of campaign speeches have beaten that? Countless thousands of dazed and helpless families thrust suddenly homeless into the streets attached themselves in pitiful home instinct each to a distressful little pile of battered and

WILL JONES

FAMILIES WERE RENDERED HOMELESS, scratched and splintered and ragged goods and merely waited in numbed misery.

This tremendous dislodgment began with the early dawn. Nearing noon down the first of these narrow, misery clogged streets there came with military precision a strange procession of moving vans; and arrived at the first breastworks of household effects the leader of that procession announced briefly to those nearest him the terms of Kelvin's offer:

"Would they go?" A cheer answered that question, a cheer of mighty relief, as of famished men in sight of water, as of lost souls that had found the gates of paradise. Then began the most amazing begira in the history of civilization. Out to the new cement cities they were carried into fresh air and clean surroundings and a new life, away from squalor and disease and degradation, and though dazed by the change they were different people and better for it. Through the day and the night for more than two weeks this tremendous exodus went on. Only Patsy McCalken, bereft of his leadership because there was no one to lead, put his stubby finger upon the facts.

"He said he'd take it away from me, and he done it, dash him!" exclaimed Mr. McCalken, half indignantly and half admiringly, his red face puffing redder and curlier little wrinkles forming upon both sides of the mole on his nose. "Them three districts would 'a' beat Kelvin in this election, and now there won't be enough voters left in the whole abattoir to wedge a come-on in a vestibule. And the whole game's a frameup. Breed's money's back of Kelvin, and it's Breed's money that's back of Pellman, and Breed gets his all out again by selling all this property Pellman bought to the railroads. It not only don't cost a cent to make all this election grand stand play from here to Frisco, but it makes money! Think of that, will you? If Kelvin frames up this deal he's a bigger man than Dick Croker, sure he is!"

Nobody, however, paid any attention to Patsy McCalken.

Election night found Henry Breed, as eager in his interest as any child could have been, in New York for the first time in years, and with him came Lillian, Mrs. Rensselaer, Dr. Zephon and the usual servants. Two splendid suits on Kelvin's floor at the Esplanade were secured, and the common meeting point for all of them that night was a magnificent drawing room upon the corner overlooking the entrance to the park and also overlooking a moving picture bulletin which an enterprising newspaper had established there. Breed surveyed Kelvin and Rollins in turn with paternal delight, but he studied both men shrewdly and ended by putting his hand on Kelvin's shoulder.

"My boy, you are made of the right stuff," he announced in his shrill voice. "Here's the man!"—and he turned to the others—"fitted to sustain a world's crisis. There is no nervousness here, no energy wasted in worry, no flinching, face straight ahead. Fine boy, this Kelvin."

"Really," put in Mrs. Rensselaer, "we are all intensely interested, and even absorbed, in your campaign, Mr. Kelvin. We think it has been very cleverly conducted indeed."

"I thank you," said Kelvin to Mrs. Rensselaer, who he knew hated him. "But we all have to remember that, while the campaign is over, our election is not yet assured by any means. Mr. Rollins and Mr. Breed and myself as monopolists and malefactors and capitalists of great wealth and a few other reprehensible things have come in for some hard scorings in the past few days, and just how much effect that is going to have on the attitude of the public it is hard to tell."

"Huh! It isn't worth considering," said Breed. "Politics is too thoroughly organized for that. Get the leaders who own the little leaders, who in turn own the minor workers clear down to the ward thugs, and you have the country."

"I cannot agree with you," broke in Rollins. "The man who disregards the tremendous, resistless force of public sentiment reckons without the mighty power which has made every important change upon the maps since history began."

"Mercy," cried Lillian, "how vitally serious we are becoming! When and where are we to have dinner?"

"Right in this apartment, I think, if Mr. Breed will allow it," said Kelvin, with a laugh. "Suppose we scatter and make ready for dinner as quickly as we can. I ordered it rather early, and the butler would probably be glad to have this room."

Breed walked out into the hall with Kelvin. "I will be glad when the night is over, so I can go back to Forest Lakes," he confided to Phillip. "I cannot get out of my mind the fact of all that money there—alone. It—it calls to me, Phillip."

"Nonsense," replied Kelvin, glancing at him curiously. The old man was prone to pass from normality to abnormality and back again with not only surprising but discomforting swiftness. "No one knows about it, and an army could not force the vaults."

"It isn't that," Breed half whispered. "It—it calls to me, I say. I hear it in tongues of silver and of gold and in soft, silken rustlings when I try to sleep away from home. As for safety, it's safe enough, but it—it calls me—not for protection, you know, but for company—just company—not that it's afraid. It knows that I have guarded it well. I have doubled my force of watchmen around there, did you know? I have almost a regiment—ignorant fellows that I have brought up from the mountains, men who know nothing but how to handle a gun. I have a solid line of them all around the house and all around the vaults, with instructions to shoot the first man that comes near." His voice sank to a whisper. "They have shot two in the past month. They dragged them away and buried them at night." Kelvin turned to Breed, shocked and horror-stricken. The old man's eyes were blazing, and his hand as he laid it upon Phillip's arm was trembling, not with fright, but with some more lustful passion. "Mine is the appointed hand," he went on. "Mine is the appointed hand. From the just wrath of the Most High there is no escape."

"No, I presume not," admitted Kelvin, with calmness at least in his voice. "There is not so much to guard as there used to be," he suggested. "No," admitted Breed, shaking his head, "that's true." He seemed quite cast down about it for a moment, then suddenly he chuckled shrilly. "But we'll get it all back, Phillip. It's only an investment, and when you become president and we get a senate and congress that we can handle my vault will receive every cash dollar in the United States. Then we'll see what we shall see." And he bobbed his old bald head like a toy mandarin.

"We shall see what we shall see," repeated Kelvin enigmatically and turned abruptly toward his suit.

Lillian, sweeping down the hall after them, called to Phillip. He waited at his door for her.

"I've a crow to pick with you," declared Lillian, drawing up closely to Phillip and putting her hand upon his forearm.

"And what is it?" he asked, frowning slightly and making no attempt to conceal it.

"Now, don't be cross," she rallied him playfully. "You haven't been down to see me in a month, and you have never written me a single letter."

"I never put myself on paper," returned Phillip.

"You're a most unsatisfactory lover," she charged, shrugging her shoulders.

Blagg, gaunt and emaciated, passed them with a look of concentrated fury; his eyes, sunken deep in their cavities, looked like wells of blackness. Lillian smiled at his malevolence, but Kelvin shook his head.

"I don't like that fellow," he observed. "He's a dangerous man to have around. He's a fool and a fanatic, and there is no telling where and when he will break loose."

"I don't know," Lillian mused. "I believe that all you say about him is true, but I rather like to play with fire, don't you?"

"No," replied Kelvin shortly—"not unless there is a definite end to gain by doing so."

When the company sat down to dinner Kelvin found at his plate the early bulletins. They were all highly favorable to the election of Kelvin and Rollins and had the effect of starting the dinner with much lightness of spirit. At 10 o'clock, however, unfavorable bulletins began to come in, one after the other, and Senator Sawyer, worried beyond measure by the unexpected development, came bustling into the room.

"I don't understand it," he declared. "It would look as if the labor vote had suddenly switched."

Lillian, watching Blagg, saw his face light with a malignant smile.

"I cannot understand how the labor vote should have been estranged," commented Kelvin slowly; "but, after all, what does it matter? The thing in which I am chiefly interested just now is not cause, but result. We can analyze the situation afterward."

Blagg, still smiling, left the room, returning a moment later with still other depressing news. The table had been cleared, only wine and cigars and cigarettes remaining, and Breed's company alternated nervously between the balcony and the table, sitting outside at times to watch the big illuminated screen across the street. The most of them were inside when, at the end of an hour of almost continued bad news, Blagg brought in a particularly unfavorable telegram, one purporting to come from the national committee and conceding the possible defeat of Kelvin by a narrow margin.

"I'm bound to confess that it looks bad," Kelvin was forced to admit, "but I'm like you, senator; I can't understand it. I don't see what element could have worked against me."

"I can tell you," suddenly broke in the voice of Blagg, a voice that was shrill in its long suppressed triumph. "I did it. I am at the head of an organization of a quarter of a million men, each one sworn with his life against the principles you represent. I sent them out the word immediately after your nomination and once a week since to vote against you and to work against you tooth and nail, and they have done it. You owe your defeat to me." And he beat both hands upon his chest in his madness of exultation.

Kelvin eyed him coldly. "You were not asked for any comments or explanations, Mr. Blagg," he observed. "For the remainder of the evening you will kindly and without unnecessary conversation attend to the duties which pertain to you to enter this room."

Blagg caught his breath sharply and trembled. His hands clinched convulsively, but suddenly he wheeled and strode from the room.

A cheer, the first hearty one in a half hour, attracted them to the balcony. The bulletin across the street was displaying a highly favorable message, which proved to be the turning of the tide. Lillian went into Blagg's room to telephone for Elsie White. Blagg was in a chair in the corner, with his handkerchief to his mouth, and there were red stains upon it. He rose as Lillian entered.

"You may go get that cigar now," he said to his assistant, who was at the key. "What did I tell you?" he demanded, turning to Lillian as soon as the operator had gone. "Who has shown the greater power—Kelvin or myself? He is through, and it is I who have defeated him. It is only the start of the things I am destined to do, and with your help I can conquer worlds. Lillian, come with me." He caught her by the shoulder. "You know where there is a billion and a half dollars in cash. With this money we can overturn the entire rotten social and financial and political system of this country and sway the mightiest empire in the world to our will. I've talked of this phase first because you have not let me talk of love, but now I must speak of it, Lillian. I am dying for the love of you. Come right now, while you have a chance, and we'll go to Forest Lake immediately—tonight. I've a thousand men where I can mass them in an hour. Come! Kelvin will cast you off like a broken toy."

Indiana Whitecaps Have Broken Out Again.

FARMER IS BRUTALLY FLOGGED

Harvey McFarley, 56 Years of Age, Is the Latest Victim of Monroe County "Regulators," Who Keep Him in Their Power For Two Hours, Beating Him With Stirrup Straps—Victim Recognized Several Assaultants.
Bloomington, Ind., May 6.—Harvey McFarley, fifty-six years of age, a farmer residing southeast of this city, was the victim of a severe flogging at the hands of whitecaps. He was aroused about 1 o'clock in the morning by the mob, but refused to open the door, and the whitecaps forced it, breaking it from the hinges.
McFarley put up a stiff fight, but was overpowered and dragged from the house. He was in the hands of the mob about two hours and was terribly beaten with stirrup leathers and was then ordered to leave. He says he tore the masks from the faces of three of the men in the fight and that he recognized them and will bring suit for damages. There have never been any charges against the man nor has he ever been arrested. Though the mob charged him with stealing turkeys, no such complaint was ever made openly against him.
McFarley has lived at Victor, and in the west part of Monroe county, for years. He has a wife and family of several children and has never been in any trouble in that locality. He says the whitecapping was the result of a personal quarrel and that politics also had something to do with it. He refuses to make any formal statement, but declares he will engage lawyers and bring civil suits against the men he says he recognized.

SUES FOR DAMAGES

An Echo of Recent Sensational Pullman Car Case.

Anderson, Ind., May 6.—Charging malicious and fraudulent arrest, Benjamin C. Barnes, National Cash Register salesman, whose connection with a sensational incident on board a Pullman car brought him much unpleasant notoriety, has filed suit for $30,000 damages against the Pullman company, Prof. William Hill and daughter, Cecil Hill of Chicago, in the local common pleas court at Dayton, O.

Barnes was arrested and brought to Anderson several weeks ago charged with entering the berth of Miss Hill while the Pullman car was en route from Richmond, Ind., to Chicago. He was held in jail for fifteen days before bond was obtained, but was promptly acquitted.

Barnes states in his petition that his credit and reputation have been greatly damaged.

Kept Off the Frost.

Clarksville, Ind., May 6.—At the large fruit orchard of James M. Zion, a mile east of this place, a test was made last night of oil- and coal-burning devices as a means of saving fruit from the frost. Mr. Zion, assisted by six men from the Purdue university experiment station, started fires in 2,000 heaters, and raised the temperature in the grove from four to six degrees above that outside the orchard.

Newspaper Sued For Libel.

Muncie, Ind., May 6.—Mrs. Harriet E. Coffman, a dressmaker, has brought suit in superior court against the Press Publishing company, publisher of the Muncie Evening Press, in which she demands $5,000 for alleged libel. She alleges the newspaper published the addresses of places said to be resorts, mentioning among them the home of Mrs. Coffman.

Dog Faithful to Death.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 6.—When Emmett, two-year-old son of Louis Pook, was killed while playing on the track of the Nickel Plate railroad two miles east of South Whitley, a dog, the child's companion and playfellow, also was killed, it being presumed he refused to leave the side of his little charge at the approach of the train.

Will Have Plenty of Time to Sleep.

Linton, Ind., May 6.—John Norris, summoned before the grand jury, went to sleep in the courtroom while waiting his turn to testify. When his name was called he did not awaken. The Greene circuit court sent him to jail for twenty-nine days for his carelessness.

Safe Withstood the Shock.

South Bend, Ind., May 6.—An attempt was made to blow the safe in the Coloma (Mich.) postoffice with nitroglycerine, but it withstood the shock and the robbers fled. The postoffice at Baroda, Mich., the bank of Blakeslee & Co., at Gallen, and the postoffice at Eau Claire have been robbed recently.

Woman Burned to Death.

Shelbyville, Ind., May 6.—Mrs. Elizabeth Strait is dead from burns received when an incubator lamp she was filling with oil exploded. She owned 200 acres of land and leaves four small children.

INDICTED AS GRAFTERS

Rep. R. K. Diegel and Senator Andrews of Ohio Legislature.

THE M'NAMARAS HELD TO ANSWER ON JUNE 1

Alleged Dynamiters Formally Arraigned in Court.

Los Angeles, May 6.—John J. McNamara and his brother, J. B. McNamara, re-indicted nineteen times on charges of murder, arraigned on the indictments and remanded to jail without bail, returned to the county jail late Friday afternoon to await the coming of June 1, when they probably will plead to the charges against them. In addition to the nineteen indictments, another against John J. McNamara, charging conspiracy in connection with the dynamiting of the Llewellyn Iron works Dec. 25 last, was read.

The men the McNamaras are accused of murdering were employees of the Los Angeles Times and lost their lives in the explosion that wrecked the newspaper plant a few minutes after 1 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 1 last.

The prisoners were taken from their cells through a covered bridge into the courtroom, thus shielding them from photographers and a throng of curious persons. As each indictment was alike except that a different person was named as having been killed by the explosion, the reading of them was a wearisome and monotonous performance. The McNamaras stood through the ordeal, lasting more than an hour, and scarcely moved. If they were disturbed by the charges, they gave no sign.

When Attorney Leo Rappaport asked that time be given the defense in which to plead, Judge Bordwell fixed June 1 at 10 a. m. as the date of pleading.

Ottie McManigal did not appear, and it was evident that now, at least, he will make no defense. His attitude is additional evidence that he will be the chief witness for the prosecution and will leave his fate in the keeping of the court.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Oxford has declined Harvard's challenge for a boat race.

Mrs. Taft gave the first of her spring garden parties Friday afternoon on the grounds south of the White House.

Governor Stubbs of Kansas has announced that he intends to stand by the women of Hunnewell in their fight for a cleaner city.

Bert Grasing, a contractor of Englewood, N. J., who recently constructed an aeroplane, was fatally hurt on his first attempt at flight.

Seven miners in a mine of the Republic Iron and Steel company at Negaunee, Mich., were killed when the timbering of the mine took fire.

Francis O'Shaughnessy, a New York grocer's clerk, was shot and killed by his wife, who gave herself up and said that she had shot her husband because he was paying attention to another woman.

Chris Snyder, a millionaire mining man of Montana, was arrested on the steamer Manchuria, just arrived at San Francisco, under an indictment returned at Honolulu, charging him with opium smuggling.

The second trial of Dr. Franz Carl Schurz Blessing, president of the Pittsburg common council, on a charge of accepting a bribe for his vote on the bank depositories ordinance in 1908, has resulted in a mistrial.

NO POSTAL BANK FOR RUSHVILLE

Postmaster Charles Frazee Recommends to Postal Authorities Not to Install One Here.

BELIEVES IT WOULD NOT PAY

It is the belief of Postmaster Charles Frazee that a postal savings bank will never be established in Rushville by the postoffice department at Washington, D. C. He has received a letter from the department, inquiring into the local conditions, relative to the installation of a postal bank here. The question was also put to him as to whether or not he would recommend the location of a bank here. Mr. Frazee replied at once that he did not believe that it would be profitable to place one in this city.

The letter included a number of questions concerning the number of foreign money orders written here and the number of foreign population in the city. In the communication it was also asked how many banks, trust companies and factories there were in the city and a question concerning their conditions was put. Letters of a similar character have been sent broadcast through the State and it is likely that the department will act on the recommendation of the postmasters in the various cities.

PENSION PLEDGES WORRY MAJORITY

Democrats in Lower House Are Attempting to Dodge Dollar-a-Day Pension Promises.

FINLY GRAY'S PART OF IT

He Worked That Time-Worn Plea to Perfection in the Last Campaign.

Louis Ludlow's letter to the Indianapolis Star Friday sounded almost like a personal attack on Hon. Finly H. Gray because of his pension promises for Finly did work the dollar-a-day pension racket for all it was worth. But settling time is here and from what Mr. Ludlow says the Democrats are going to default on their promises and their position before the country is anything but desirable. The letter in part is as follows:

The Democratic House of Representatives is squarely "up against it" on the pension question. A situation which is full of tragic consequences for the old soldiers, who are approaching the brink with nothing but the beneficence of the grateful government to sustain them, and yet decidedly amusing from the standpoint of the practical politicians, has arisen in the House, which suggests the following pertinent interrogatories:

1. Is it impossible that when Democratic candidates for Congress declared with tremendous earnestness and overpowering impressiveness from the stump last fall that they would never rest contented until they had helped to put a dollar-a-day pension law on the statute books, they had their fingers crossed and didn't mean it at all?

2. Is it possible that when they so freely and often expressed their unfaltering, unwavering, undying allegiance to the men "who saved the nation" and indicated that nothing was too good for them, they were simply handing out "bunk" to the old soldiers to catch their votes?

A plan has been devised to show the country that the Democratic politicians have systematically trifled with the soldiers; that the tears of sympathy which they shed on the stump were crocodile tears; that when Democratic candidates for Congress vociferously declared themselves hoarse for a dollar-a-day pension they did so with the mental reservation that they would forget all about it when the election was over. With the Democrats in control of the House by an overwhelming majority, the Democratic members of Congress, who almost superinduced fits of apoplexy shouting for dollar-a-day pensions on the stump, are not moving a peg toward the fulfillment of their campaign pledges to the old soldiers.

The Committee on Invalid Pensions is fully organized, the machinery is all set to pass legislation increasing the pensions of the veterans who wore the blue, but not a wheel is being turned.

Nobody on the Democratic side of the House appears to be agonizing over the old soldiers now—nobody but Representative Carl Carey Anderson of the Postoria (O.) district. Mr. Anderson has worn out his welcome on the Democratic side by sounding a discordant and inharmonious note. He has had the temerity to declare that Democratic performance ought to square with Democratic promise, and for that illogical and unfortunate conclusion he has placed himself in an attitude that has brought upon his head the wrath of his Democratic colleagues, who act as if drawing and quartering is the only punishment that would fit his case.
